DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 7/3/03 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Meyer (US 3,784,004).

Meyer discloses the invention as claimed including a paperboard 12, having a front and back, placing an automobile part 14, that has a structure, on the front of the paperboard, leaving front areas exposed and shrink wrapping the part onto the paperboard with film 16 (see Figs. 1-3, C1, L12-20, C3, L49-61 and C5, 30-52).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Meyer in view of Gillio-tos et al (US 4,611,456).

Meyer discloses the invention substantially as claimed including a paperboard back. What Meyer does not disclose is the backing being comprised of a laminate. However, Gillio-tos discloses that it is old and well known in the art to use a backing 1, that can be comprised of a laminate as a means of increasing product durability (see Figs. 8,9 and C3, L20-23). Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have provided the invention of Meyer with a laminate backing as taught by Gillio-tos for the purpose of increasing product durability.

6. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Meyer in view of Engles Jr. (US 3,154,898).

Meyer discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for specific mention of an automobile part being comprised of metal composite or glass. However, Engles teaches that it is old and well known in the art of skin packaging to provide a structural automobile part (i.e. a part having structure) 10, that is comprised of composite metal and porcelain, which is shrink wrapped to a backing 14, by film 16 for the purpose of protecting the product from damage during transport (see Figs. 1-3, C1, L15-18 and C2, L59-69). Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have provided the invention of Meyer with the specific skin packaged structural part as taught by Engles for the purpose of protecting the product from damage during transport.

In regard to claim 4, while Meyer does not specifically disclose an automobile part that is comprised of window glass, door panel, hood, fender or combinations thereof, Meyer does disclose that the packaged article can be comprised of bearings, clutches or various automobile or mechanical parts (see C5, L30-52). The examiner takes Official Notice that it is inherent in the reference of Meyer to package automobile parts that could be comprised of window glass, door panels, hoods, fenders or combinations thereof for the purpose of preventing damage to automobile items during shipping.

7. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Meyer in view of Wilkinson (US 6,010,003).

Meyer discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the method of placing the shrink-wrapped packages in a box or container. However, Wilkinson teaches that it is old and well known in the art to place an object "O" that has been shrink wrapped to a backing with wrap 172, in a container "C" for the purposes of protecting the item during shipping (See Figs. 16 and 17). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have provided the invention of Meyer with a shipping container as taught by Wilkinson for the purpose of protecting the items during shipping.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Walus et al, Rorer and Hornstein have been cited to show devices having similar structure.
